- Declassification stamps that another government agency applied to the Truman Library's Psychological Strategy Board Files during that agency's review at the Library in the early 1980s. (Portions of the stamps bearing the reviewer's number (not his/her name) have been redacted in subsequent MDR and RAC reviews. Often those are the only redactions made in documents that otherwise could be released in full. Over the years, these stamp redactions have sometimes been made under agency statute and at other times for national security.)
